Scout / DoE Award Matrix

There is now a considerable overlap between the Scout Association's badge requirements and the Duke of Edinburgh Award Scheme.

This leaflet shows in tabular form what is required from Explorer Scouts who wish to achieve these awards.

Notes: Although there is only one list of activities for the three Awards, the level of skill and commitment required should be linked to the age and experience of the Explorer Scout. An activity can also count for this requirement if it is being completed for another requirement of the Award. For example, completing an environmental project during the Queen's Scout Award expedition would also count for this requirement.

Notes:

- DoE requirements are shaded in Grey. In general these are:
 - take up a Skill and show progress and lasting interest. The skill can be an existing interest or something entirely new
 - take up a Physical Activity completing an agreed programme of taking part and achievement
 - provide Service to an individual or the community. Briefing and training should be given in order to gain the necessary skills. This many include helping with another Section as a Young Leader
 - complete an expedition in open or adventurous country by foot, cycle, horse, canoe, boat or dinghy. The expedition should involve careful preparation, training, responsibility and review
 - complete a five day and four night residential project in an unfamiliar environment with people who are not known. This project should be environmental work, activity based, service to others or personal training (Gold only)
- First time entry to a Silver DoE award means that you must also complete one element for 12 months .
- First time entry at DoE Gold level will only be allowed in very exceptional circumstances and would mean completing one element for 18 months.
- Following completion of the first four elements of the Queen's Scout Award you must make a presentation, to a suitable audience, of your achievements so far.
- Membership and Nights Away are cumulative and count for subsequent awards.
- Activities are listed overleaf
- Activities must come from different programme areas
- Activities may not be repeated for higher awards
- A diary (sheets with DoE Book) should be kept to confirm that the minimum requirement of one hour per week is fulfilled
